

Fully embraced by love

What would a people look like who are fully embraced by love? What would a people become if they were totally set free to become who they truly are in Him? What would an army of love be, released from the darkest corners of the earth to carry the light of His face, reflected in their own, as they see who they are in Love's eyes?

It is nothing less than supernatural and nothing other than His Kingdom coming to those that know their need... those who are willing to become humble like a little child. There is the Kingdom. Secret treasures, hidden riches of darkness—a treasure hunt with our King to find royalty by the roadside, diamonds in the dust, glory in the gutter and miracles in the mud. Do we have kingdom eyes to see how our King longs to come and make His beauty known?

We are overcome by a love we cannot contain. We only keep what we give away, so we will give to Him all we are: all our dreams, all our love, all our hopes, all our control, all our understanding, all our everything; until He takes our lives and holds them in the fire of His gaze and we become the radiant reflection of His glory in the earth.

Could an army be raised to fight hate with love, injustice with mercy and truth, war with peace, poverty with generosity, despair with joy and praise, striving with rest, religion with freedom? We are watching them arise with no motive but to romance His heart with the love song of their lives.

From Michelle Perry in Sudan www.encounteringheaven.blogspot.com